February 25, 2020 | Plymouth, MI

Plastipak is pleased to announce it has earned the 2020 Harry L. McKinley Safety Leadership Award!

The award is earned through documented establishment of safety and health programs, which have reduced the frequency and severity of injury and illness in the workplace. The award also recognizes innovative techniques and safety processes to improve safety performance.

The award is sponsored by the Michigan Safety Conference, which is a 90-year old non-profit organization that sponsors the annual safety conference for the State of Michigan, with approximately 2,500 attendees at their annual conference.
